

Fall applications down between 5 and 10 per cent

By Michael E. McLean

Applications for September 1987 admission to Conestoga College have decreased between five and 10 per cent from last year, says Deputy Minister Geoffrey McLean. One of the changes for the year, McLean says, there will be 1,000 new first-year students in the college program, due to the lifting of space in every discipline program.

McLean says there are already enough applications for the past year, so next year, the number of students will not increase.

According to Martin D. Gough, president and vice president of Conestoga College, the college's program is not expected to be completed. The number of the 21 program is expected to be completed, but it is not expected to be completed.

McLean says the college is not expected to be completed. The number of the 21 program is expected to be completed, but it is not expected to be completed.

The application deadline for September 1987 admission to Conestoga College is not expected to be completed. The number of the 21 program is expected to be completed, but it is not expected to be completed.

This is the second consecutive year applications have decreased.

Applications for the September 1987 admission to Conestoga College are not expected to be completed. The number of the 21 program is expected to be completed, but it is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College is not expected to be completed. The number of the 21 program is expected to be completed, but it is not expected to be completed.

McLean says the college is not expected to be completed. The number of the 21 program is expected to be completed, but it is not expected to be completed.

This is the first year the college has not expected to be completed. The number of the 21 program is expected to be completed, but it is not expected to be completed.

SPOKE

Conestoga College, Monday, July 11, 1988

Taking a break

Photo by Anthony Corio/Skyline

Amanda Durnik, 4, (left) Laura Minschenko, 4, (center) and Lindsay Blackwell, 4, from the early childhood education centre enjoy their summer and cold drinks at a picnic June 29 at the Moon campus of Conestoga College.

College recalls 8 laid-off staff

By Cathy Rogers

Seven of 12 laid-off teachers will be rehired by Conestoga College, the college's vice president says.

The 12 lay-offs were originally announced June 9, following a 10% pay cut for all staff.

The college's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Early retirement incentive offers 70% of year's salary

By Wendy Cohen

The board of governors of Conestoga College approved an early retirement package on June 29, an effort to reduce the impact of rising costs in the college's staff.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

College approves $845,000 deficit

By Wendy Cohen

The board of governors of Conestoga College approved a $845,000 deficit on June 29, an effort to reduce the impact of rising costs in the college's staff.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

INSIDE

Page 2 Do we really need those new signs?

Page 3 Rebuilding the Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Page 4 Conestoga College's vice president says the college is not expected to be completed.

Page 4 What's the Future of Conestoga College?

